NEW PERSONAL INJURY SPECIALISTS AT BOLT BURDON KEMP

Three more experts in personal injury claims have joined Islington compensation law firm Bolt Burdon Kemp.

Stephen Hill has specialised in claims arising from accidents at work and whilst abroad. He has a Masters Degree in Public International Law and considerable knowledge of the issues which can arise from accidents while travelling between countries and other areas outside UK jurisdiction. He also deals with claims caused by uninsured drivers and represents the victims of child abuse.

Marilene Antoni has worked for several London law firms, and her experience lies in a wide variety of personal injury cases, including road traffic accidents, trips and slips and occupier's liability claims.

Both solicitors are members of the Association of Personal Injury Lawyers.

Emma Wilson is the most recently qualified of the three new staff, having spent some time working with the Citizen's Advice Bureau. She deals mainly with road traffic accidents, public liability and employer liability claims.

The partner responsible for Personal Injury Claims at Bolt Burdon Kemp, Jonathan Wheeler, is delighted at the expansion of his department. "We deal with all sorts of personal injury claims," he said, "and Stephen, Emma and Marilene have a wide knowledge to add to the already considerable experience of the rest of the staff."
